The Daily Courant.

Friday, June 26. 1713.

London, June 26.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Dunkirk.

From the Paris Gazette, dated July 1.

Madrid, June 12.

THE 10th of this Month the King dismissed the Cortes or States, who had settled all the Affairs for which they were called together. The Treasure belonging to his Majesty which lately arrived from the Indies at Cadiz, has been brought hither; and the Indulto on the Effects of private Persons is regulated at 8 per Cent, besides 4 per Cent assigned to reimburse the Chamber of Seville the Expence they were at in sending Advice-Boats and Ships of War to meet the Flota and bring it safe to Cadiz. The Count d' Azumar Ambassador of Portugal at Barcelona with the Archduke and Archdutchess, being on his Way home to Lisbon, is arrived at Caramanchel within a League of this Place, whither my Lord Lexington is gone to make him a Visit, and the Marquis de Bedmar has sent a Gentleman to compliment him. Tho' the raising of Recruits and remounting the Cavalry be finished, and the Magazines on the Frontier sufficiently stored, the King has caused 400000 Crowns to be advanced to Undertakers General of Provisions, out of the Money that is come to him from the Indies, to the End the Troops may be abundantly furnished with all things necessary. He has nominated five Officers of the Robe, all Catalonians, to regulate the Civil Government of Catalonia, with Order to grant to that Principality all the Privileges which may not be prejudicial to his Soveraignty; and 'tis believed they will be settled on the Foot of the Kingdoms of Arragon and Valencia. We have received Advice from Barcelona, that Count Staremberg had sent to desire Admiral Jennings to repair thither with all Expedition, to regulate together the Imbarkation of the German Troops, which 'tis believed cannot be compleated at once, for want of Transport-Ships. 'Twas likewise advised, that the Marquis de Ceva-Grimaldi, sent by the Duke de Popoli on the same Account, was arrived at Barcelona.

From the Paris Gazette, dated July 1.

From the Camp at Spire, June 19. The Marshal de Villars went the 16th of this Month to the Camp before Landau, to regulate with the Marshal de Bezons and M. de Vollory the attacking of that Place, and the the Day of opening the Trenches. He has caused an Intrenchment of 1100 Toises to be made, to prevent the sallying of Troops by the Bridge of Philipsbourg. The Count de Broglio is detached towards Worms with 20 Squadrons, to get together the Corn of the open Country situate between this Camp and Mentz, and he is seconded by the Marquis d' Alegre who is encamped with 100 Squadrons in the Plain of Frankendal. The Count de Coigny guards with a Body of Troops the Banks of the Rhine, from this Camp to Yochenum, and the Count du Bourg with another Body from Yochenum to Fort-Louis. Besides this, the Marshal de Villars has left in Alsace in the Heighth of Brisac several Battallions and Squadrons, to oppose the Body which the Enemy have in the Black Forest, in case they should offer to cross the Rhine thereabouts.

Paris, July 1. We have received Advice, that the Trenches before Landau were opened the Night between the 23d and 24th past.

From the Dublin Gazette, dated June 16.

Dublin, June 20. Last Tuesday being the Day appointed for a publick Thanksgiving for the Peace, the same was observed here with great Solemnity. His Grace the Lord Archbishop of Tuam being indisposed, his Excellency the Lord Chancellor Phipps went in the Morning to the Castle, attended by a great many of the Nobility, Privy-Councellors, Judges and Gentry, and from thence to Christ-Church, where a Te Deum prepared by Mr. Coussar, and an Anthem by Mr. Rosengrave were well performed, and a Sermon preached by Mr. Delane, Fellow of Trinity College in Dublin, suitable to the Occasion; when the Service was over, his Excellency returned to the Castle, attended as before, and from thence to his own House, where an Entertainment was provided for the Company: At Noon the Great Guns were fired three Rounds, and answered by three Volleys from the Regiments on Duty in Dublin. In the Evening his Excellency went to the Playhouse to hear a Performance of Musick prepared for the Occasion, by Mr. Coussar, and Mr. Viner, where was a very great appearance of Persons of Distinction of both Sexes; when the Musick was ended his Excellency and the Company went to a fine Set of Fire-works burnt on the Custom-house-Key, and in the Water, and the Houses through the whole City were so Illuminated, that they appeared to be one grand Illumination. The Night concluded with Ringing of Bells, Bonefires and all other Demonstrations of Joy.
